Summer Break--Short Assignments

Dear Students,
Greetings!

As we begin our summer break, I encourage each one of you to enjoy this well-deserved time with your family and friends. A break is meant to refresh your mind, recharge your energy, and prepare you for an even better academic journey ahead.

The summer assignments shared with you are very short and thoughtfully designed to keep you connected with your learning without taking away the joy of your holidays. Plan your day wisely by setting aside a small amount of time each day to complete your work. A little consistency every day is far better than rushing at the end of the break.

Do not treat these assignments as a burden. Instead, see them as an opportunity to revise what you have already learned and strengthen your understanding in a relaxed manner.

If you need any clarification or guidance while completing your assignments, please feel free to contact your concerned subject teacher. They will be happy to assist you.

Remember, true success comes from balancing learning with relaxation. Read a good book, spend quality time with your family, play outdoor games, develop a new skill, and return to school refreshed, confident, and ready to achieve greater heights.

Wishing you all a safe, joyful, and productive summer break. Enjoy every moment, stay healthy, and come back with renewed enthusiasm.

With best wishes,
Javid Ahmad Bhat
